

stylismms | sos | saga of sami

finding & creating the space between fashion and film. these are my stories, adventures and experiences of that process.

△ Archive △ RSS △

15/02/2011

i feel like peeling "it" off the paper...

artist ethan shoshan had his opening show in los angeles at the gallery 3902.

falling toward light

beautiful works of art on dark paper.
unfortunately, these photos are NOT giving justice to the artwork. the iridescent rings of the oil base gel slightly peeling of the paper. each piece of work shifting in space and time, nothing stays permanent.

lovely lovely lovely...

